Bio

Paul RoseWood, a country music artist born in Ohio, is shaping to be country music's next big thing! Paul has always had a love for music from a very early age, and once he was handed a guitar, he never looked back. His latest song release, "Miss Me," has amassed over 150k streams across all platforms, been added to Spotify's "Fresh Finds" Country Playlist and more - making it Paul's top-charting song to date. Playing over 150 shows a year, Paul is no stranger to putting on a high-energy show. Paul has also had opportunities to share the stage with national acts including Travis Tritt, Rodney Atkins, Aaron Lewis, Confederate Railroad, and more. Paul is currently calling home "somewhere between Tennessee and Ohio," Paul spends quite a bit of time in Nashville writing, recording, and touring for his music career. Underneath his experiences in the limelight, Paul is just a simple backwoods country boy at heart.
